

GRADUATE STUDIES CENTER

INTRODUCTION

The Graduate Studies Centre (PPS) was renamed on 1 July 2024. Previously known as the Postgraduate Studies and Research Centre (PPLIP), it was established on 1 July 2009.

VISION

To become a renowned and outstanding Religious Teaching Academic Excellence Centre.

MISSION

To elevate the academic excellence of religious teaching through systematic and technologically advanced graduate studies management.

OBJECTIVES

- Administer graduate study programmes, including postgraduate diplomas, Master's degrees, and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in the field of religious teaching, in a manner that effectively, comprehensively, and in alignment with international standards fulfills the aspirations of religion, nation, and community.
- Guide graduate students who are knowledgeable, faithful, and practicing through conducted learning and research.
- Create a conducive graduate study environment for both instructors and graduate students.
- Provide a systematic, comprehensive, and easily accessible online database, records, and network of student studies and research for the development and utilization of knowledge.
- Internationalize the Seri Begawan Religious Teachers University College through graduate studies cooperation networks with foreign countries.

MAIN FUNCTIONS

- Develop graduate programs in religious teaching fields that meet the aspirations of religion, nation, and people in collaboration with faculties and centers.
- Implement, coordinate, and monitor graduate programs and their implementation according to the regulations, mission, and vision of the Seri Begawan Religious Teachers University College.
- Administer and record graduate program and research activities systematically and comprehensively.
- Prepare, evaluate, and improve documents related to (i) regulations, (ii) policies, (iii) guidelines, and (iv) graduate program management from time to time.

- Establish effective and conducive infrastructure to enhance the implementation facilities of graduate programs.
- Plan and implement courses, training, workshops, seminars, exhibitions, conferences, and similar activities related to the implementation and development of graduate programs.
- Provide cooperation networks at national, regional, and international levels to enhance graduate programs.
- Control and monitor the quality of (i) thesis writing, (ii) research studies, and (iii) graduation accreditation in a planned manner.
- Implement and achieve with full commitment the mission and vision of the graduate programs in line with the requirements of the Seri Begawan Religious Teachers University College.